Speaking programs

Governance Before the Crisis

Boards, executives and risk leaders

Examine decision rights, recurring exceptions, incentives and escalation paths. Participants identify who can act, what evidence reaches decision makers and how unresolved concerns are reviewed.

Participants take away: A practical method for assigning ownership and raising emerging risks.

Who Owns the Machine?

Boards, CIOs, CISOs and AI teams

Map authorization, data use, vendor responsibility and human review in enterprise AI. The discussion covers release evidence, monitoring, incident escalation and the review of temporary exceptions.

Participants take away: A decision-rights map for an AI use case and its human oversight.

The Integration Is the Strategy

CEOs, CFOs and integration teams

Connect an acquisition's investment thesis to talent, controls, customer relationships and knowledge transfer. Examine responsibilities during diligence and the first 100 days.

Participants take away: An ownership and evidence checklist for reviewing integration progress.
